

Calgary-based pianist Tricia Edwards maintains a busy and diverse schedule playing and performing regularly as solo artist, in jazz combo, as professional accompanist and as a member of several of Calgary's most popular salsa and Latin bands.

Tricia earned both Master's and Bachelor's degrees in classical piano performance from the University of Alberta and studied in summer master class programs at both the Banff Centre and Mozarteum in Salzburg, Austria. She has appeared as soloist with the Vienna Sinfonietta and University of Alberta orchestras and in frequent solo and chamber music recitals in Edmonton, Abu Dhabi, and Calgary. She has been on the piano faculty at Alberta College and currently teaches at Mount Royal Conservatory.

She was the recipient of the 2009 Richard Harold Cowie scholarship, given by the Calgary Musicians Association. She released her debut jazz CD "Joyspring" in March 2009.

She has been a member of AFM Local 547 since 2008 and is looking forward to serving as a new member of the board.
